

A Guided Tour Through the Mind Palace
in Search for the FORETHOUGHT

FOREWORD

Welcome to the A Guided Tour Through the Mind Palace in Search for the FORETHOUGHT! This manual details all of the necessary steps for navigating the ever-changing Mind Palace and arriving at the FORETHOUGHT. Under typical circumstances, none of the information in this handbook will be necessary, as the route you would be taking changes on a daily basis.

However, on very specific circumstances such as searching for answers, you may use this handbook as a step-by-step set of instructions for navigating a Mind Palace and obtaining the answer fragments that can be found along the way.

As you already know, answers can be crystallized from a set of answer fragments, also known as letters. At certain point in your journey, you will be instructed to perform some calculations and actions, the combination of which will yield 1-2 letters per fragment.

This all may seem quite complicated, but it's really quite simple – just follow the instructions!

To begin, start with Beginning Your Search for Your FORETHOUGHT, on the next page.

Thanks, and good luck!

Sincerely,

Beginning Your Search for Your FORETHOUGHT

- Begin your search of the Mind Palace at the same place as always, with a blank slate, save for the usual benefits from your previous findings. There is no envelope on the table.
- Walk through two doors that stay open. Don't question why. Just do it, and we will cross the bridge when we get there.
- Open a door to find a set of stairs going downward. Do not go down that staircase, and retrace your step back to the starting point.
- Stepping on the glossy floor again, you first head going toward the heads, finding a thought that's straightforward yet always open-ended.
- Going further reveals a thought that leads nowhere. Inside the thought, you see two White objects. There could've been more had you pick a different set of stairs earlier, but two is perfectly serviceable.
- How does this thought make you feel? And what kind of emotion does this room remind you of?

If you feel UNCERTAIN, the answer you seek starts with a C

If you feel DETERMINED, the answer you seek starts with an R

If you feel DREAD, the answer you seek starts with an F

If you also feel SAD, note down the 5th letter of this thought.

If you also feel ANGRY, note down the 3rd letter of this thought.

If you also feel AFRAID, note down the 2nd letter of this thought.

Proceed to the Section matching the second letter you just noted down.

Section A

- Note down the 5th letter of the thought you are currently in, then leave through the newly connected pathway.
- Looping back around once again, go through the remaining door and meet some eager companions. They cannot follow you on this journey, but they are happy to assist from afar.
- Continuing on, you find yet another joyful thought. You found a coin lying on the floor, but that's about what you could do here.
- Checking what's available today, you see that one of the options would go well with any fruits or dishes you might come across later.
- What else do you see is available?

If you see something that has a LENS, note down the 3rd letter of one of two remaining items with the shorter name.

If you see something that has a MAGNET, note down the 2nd letter of one of two remaining items with the shorter name.

If you see something that has a VALVE, note down the 6th letter of one of two remaining items with the shorter name.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section B

- Entering through the door facing west, your pocket should become slightly lighter.
- On the table in this thought, you should see something that lasts a week, and something that lasts for less than a minute. Take the thing that lasts a week. Do not pick up the other thing.
- Also inside this thought, you should see a chunk of a slab of stone. How does the border of that slab of stone make you feel?

If you also feel REVOLTED, note down the 2nd letter of that location.

If you also feel CONFUSED, note down the 3rd letter of that location.

If you also feel FRUSTRATED, note down the 4th letter of that location.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section C

- Entering through the only available door, you should find a structurally important room.
- Use one of your tools on all the available piles.
- Leaving through the door opposite the elevator, you will run into a very overwhelming thought. This thought is somehow making you feel all sorts of emotions at once.
- Take a moment to decompress and watch the sparkling life on display.
- Turn to the exit with a barrel in front of it. There should be something made of paper resting on that barrel.
- Looking at it and not thinking about its function, how does that object make you feel?

If you also feel RESENTFUL, note down the 6th letter of its name.

If you also feel PETRIFIED, note down the 4th letter of its name.

If you also feel GLEEFUL, note down the 2nd letter of its name.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section D

- Proceeding through the only other exit of the thought you are in, you find a thought that typically would've typically limited your choice capacity by 33%, but is saved by a much earlier decision.
- How many letters long is the name of this thought?

If you see SIX letters, note down the 3rd letter of its name.

If you see SEVEN letters, note down the 4th letter of its name.

If you see EIGHT letters, note down the 5th letter of its name.

- Take the exit to your left, and you will find a rather intrusive but helpful thought. Here, you can catch glimpses of other thoughts, access the neuron network, or perhaps relive some memories.
- Look at the top-rightmost screen of the middle section.
- How does the thought shown here make you feel?

If you feel DEJECTED, note down the 1st letter of that thought's name.

If you feel OVERJOYED, note down the 2nd letter of that thought's name.

If you feel NAUSEATED, note down the 3rd letter of that thought's name.

Proceed to the Section matching the second letter you just noted down.

Section E

- Returning from that chain of thought, look toward the hands and find a happier thought. You have a fond memory of the first time you discovered this thought on the day immediately after.
- Continuing in the same direction, you'll find a thought which grows stronger the more frustrating your other thoughts are. Move on for now and do not interact with it.
- Walk forward into a thought that makes you queasy, but only somewhat.
- Pick up a large metallic object that is leaning against the wall.
- Check on the door on that same wall, finding a tiny thought.
- In there you'll find a green stone, an ordinary-looking key, and a much more rectangular key. Pick them up as well.
- Go to the other direction into a curious thought.
- Look up to see many bright spots strewn across the sky. As many as the number of the hidden thought you were looking for initially.
- How do you feel about what you just saw?

If you feel like more opportunities will present themselves, note down the 4th letter of the metallic object you're holding.

If you feel like you're experiencing mind block, note down the 2nd letter of the metallic object you're holding.

If you feel a little more satiated, note down the 5th letter of the metallic object you're holding.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section FORETHOUGHT

- And there we have it! You have now reached the FORETHOUGHT.
- Compare the names of the last two thoughts placed in order to reach here. There should be one position that shares a letter. (e.g. THOUGHT and CHAMBER share the H in the 2nd position).

Note down that letter, and you have now found the answer you were searching for.

That concludes your guided tour through your Mind Palace to the FORETHOUGHT. Thank you for visiting!

Section G

- Exit through the door that stays open once again, and head down some stairs.
- Ride the elevator that just opened downward.
- Walk along the corridor past some crates, and you should find an open door to your right.
- You should see an altar surrounded by water, with a rectangle in the middle, and six objects surrounding it.
- Place the objects onto the board, and six much larger versions of those objects should reveal themselves.
- Look at the one that is the second from the right.
- Now think of the thoughts that you can find it in.
- How do two of those thoughts make you feel?

If you feel TIRED, note down the 1st letter of the effect to its left.

If you feel OVERWHELMED, note down the 1st letter of its own effect.

If you feel CHEERFUL, note down the 1st letter of the effect to its right.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section H

- Continuing onwards, you should find yourself in a timely yet relaxing thought. There is a nice and comfortable fireplace in this thought.
- You see two ways you can go. Walk through the door not opposite the fireplace into a mournful unkempt hall.
- Heading in the same direction to the next thought, you find some pennies for your thought, and a note next to them.

How many lowercase letters do you feel are on that note?

If you feel FIVE letters, note down the 1st then 2nd lowercase letters.

If you feel SIX letters, note down the 3rd then 4th lowercase letters.

If you feel SEVEN letters, note down the 5th then 6th lowercase letters.

Proceed to the Section matching the second letter you just noted down.

Section I

- Proceeding forward you find another splitting thought, with one door to your left, one door to your right.
- In front of one door is a small table with a key and a note on it. Pick up that key, but go through the opposite door.
- Stepping through the unlocked door, you find your cherished inanimate friend, the Keeper.

How many DEPRESSING thoughts are currently within the Mind Palace?

- Look toward the panel with the answer to the question above (in the thought you are currently in, not the other order!)

Note down the 4th letter of their name.

- Taking the exit closest to an edge of the Mind Palace, you should experience a Déjà vu moment.
- You should remember having been in this thought already today. However, unlike earlier, there is no special object to pick up, only a single key.

Note down the differential letter of your current position in the Mind Palace (i.e. where you are in the 44-letter message)

Proceed to the Section matching the second letter you just noted down.

Section J

- Going up into a corner, you should see a large stone table.
- Opposite that table, you should see a locked box.
- Open up the box, and you should see a piece of paper mentioning the Knight.
- What colour is the box?

If the box is BLUE, the next thought you will enter should cost 1 Gem.

If the box is WHITE, the next thought you will enter should cost 2 Gems.

If the box is BLACK, the next thought you will enter should cost 3 Gems.

If the box is PINK, the next thought you will enter should cost no Gems.

Additionally, the next thought you will enter should also represent the same emotion as the paper in the box.

- Retrace your step to the previous intersection, and go through the other remaining door.
- Based on the constraints above, there should be only one possible thought that can be behind this door. This should allow you to enter the FORETHOUGHT.
- And by sheer miracle or blessing of the angles, you somehow get that exact thought you needed.

Note down the last letter of the name of that thought.

Proceed to Section FORETHOUGHT.

Section K

- Step through the northern door into a thought that goes nowhere.
- Inside the thought, there should be a book on a table.
- Turn to page 11, and remember the two thoughts depicted there.
- Return to the previous thought, and this time instead take the north-facing door.
- You should now be one of the two thoughts previously seen on page 11.
- Imagine a hypothetical situation where, by finding this thought, something has just now been added to the table in another thought.
- What was just added?

If it's SOUP, note down the 1st letter of the thought that'd boost it.

If it's BURGER, note down the 3rd letter of the thought that'd boost it.

If it's ICECREAM, note down the 5th letter of the thought that'd boost it.

If it's PIE, note down the 7th letter of the thought that'd boost it.

If it's COCKTAIL, note down the 9th letter of the thought that'd boost it.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section L

- Go northward past a thought with a grand piano, into a vast, open thought.
- Proceeding onwards into a dimly lit thought, you should see the door you just walked through has been removed.
- Unlock the path connecting your current thought to the central cortex, and perform as necessary. This door should also disappear behind you.
- Do you remember what day it is?

If it's Day 1, note down the 1st letter of the thought you haven't visited.
If it's Day 2, note down the 2nd letter of the thought you haven't visited.
If it's Day 3, note down the 3rd letter of the thought you haven't visited.
If it's Day 4, note down the 4th letter of the thought you visited twice.
If it's Day 5, note down the 5th letter of the thought you visited twice.
If it's Day 6, note down the 6th letter of the thought you visited twice.
If it's Day 7, note down the 7th letter of the thought not placed yet.
If it's Day 8, note down the 8th letter of the thought not placed yet.
If it's Day 9, note down the 9th letter of the thought not placed yet.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section M

- Face south and travel forward until you see a spiral staircase.
- Go up to the top, and look for a piece of paper next to a waterfowl.

Wait until a second spiral staircase is revealed.

- Go up the newly revealed stairs, and you should find several identical objects arranged in a row.
- There should be instructions for you to follow there. Set the state of those objects to what they should be.
- Reading them as a 3-digit number, only one of them should be displaying a prime number. Look at the instruction on that object.
- How does it make you feel?

If you feel JUBILANT, note down the 14th letter on the paper.

If you feel ALARMED, note down the 18th letter on the paper.

If you feel IRATE, note down the 22nd letter on the paper.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section N

- You see a door to your left, and a door to your right.
- Take the locked door to your right into a straightforward thought with six names.
- Find a 15-letter name made up of three 5-letter words.
- How many Gems do you feel like you have right now?

If you have SIX Gems, note down the 3rd letter of the 1st word, then the 2nd letter of the 3rd word.

If you have FIVE Gems, note down the 2nd letter of the 2nd word, then the 3rd letter of the 1st word.

If you have FOUR Gems, note down the 1st letter of the 3rd word, then the 1st letter of the 2nd word.

Proceed to the Section matching the second letter you just noted.

Section O

- Walk back down the spiral staircase, and exit the thought.
- You should be in a dead end thought that used to belong to someone else.
- It does not look like a comfortable place to rest, but at least you will find something in your pocket when getting up.
- How many keys should be on the rack in this thought?

If you see FIVE keys, note down the 5th letter of the name of the person who this thought used to belong to.

If you see SIX keys, note down the 6th letter of the name of the person who this thought used to belong to.

If you see SEVEN keys, note down the 7th letter of the name of the person who this thought used to belong to.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section P

- Proceed onwards to the next thought, where you should be at 0 Gems after placing it.
- Out of the multiple available doors in this thought, there is one possible direction you could take AND one possible thought you could place behind that door, which will let you directly enter the FORETHOUGHT right now without having to double back.
- The name of the thought you need should have more letters than the thought you are currently in.
- And by sheer miracle or blessing of the angles, you somehow get that exact thought you needed.

Proceed to Section FORETHOUGHT.

Section Q

- Stepping forward into a thought with two exits, take the door opposite the coffee maker.
- You should now be in a thought with many doors.
- Once you have found the lever, exit the thought in the direction that puts you closest to the FORETHOUGHT.
- You should find yourself in a gathering place. As in, the thought where things are gathered.
- Gather your thoughts, and find a piece of paper on the central table, and look at the number of it.
- What is this number's core?

Look at the text next to that paper.

Count that many letters into that text, and note it down.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section R

- Note down the 7th letter of the name of the person who wrote the note you just read.
- Leave the thought the way you entered, and backtrack to your most recent intersection.
- Taking the other door, you should see a table with a couple of gems on it. Take both of them.
- On the same table, there should also be a newspaper.
- How many Gems do you feel like you have currently?

Count that many letters into the headline on that newspaper, and note it down.

Proceed to the Section matching the letter you just noted down.

Section S

- Heading north, you find a thought that's the complement to yet another thought you have already been in earlier -- thematically mechanically, and almost literally.
- How many upgraded thoughts have you been in so far today?

Count that many letters into the name of this thought, then note down that letter.

- Take the door pointing to the centre of the Mind Palace.
- Entering this thought, you see a little slip of paper listing three available items, and one which is only available somewhere else.
- Compare the name of this thought to the very first thought outside. There should be exactly one position that has the same letter (e.g. MORNING and COUNTER share an N at the 4th position).

Note down the letter one alphabetically before the matching letter.

If the match occurs in an ODD position (i.e. 1st, 3rd, etc.), proceed to Section B.

If the match occurs in an EVEN position (i.e. 2nd, 4th, etc.), proceed to Section P.